Liskow & Lewis litigators enjoy a distinguished reputation more than 80-years in the making.

Overview

Liskow & Lewis litigators enjoy a distinguished reputation more than 80-years in the making. From the firm's earliest days when our lawyers were literally "writing the book" on mineral law along Gulf Coast, to current representation of global, national and regional leaders, we believe the recognition we receive stems from a dogged commitment to understand and present the stories of our clients. Whether a contractual conflict, a regulatory issue, a question of responsibility, or an hour of crisis, Liskow lawyers are experienced advocates no matter the venue – boardroom to courtroom.

In pursuit of the highest value for the client, much of our work is preventative in nature; however, our team of trial lawyers aggressively litigates an entire range of business matters. Recent experience includes handling all aspects of complex cases involving energy and natural resources, maritime, oil & gas, insurance, environmental, and commercial matters.

Chambers USA recognition underscores the exemplary reputation. The firm received esteemed first-band rankings in Energy & Natural Resources, Environment, and Litigation: General Commercial in Louisiana in Chambers USA 2018. The expression of confidence extends to recognition in The Best Lawyers in America, BL Rankings, LLC, 2019 Edition where 52 Liskow & Lewis lawyers are noted. In addition, the firm is home to 8 individuals recognized by The Best Lawyers in America, BL Rankings, LLC, as "Lawyer of the Year" for 2019.

This professional preoccupation with understanding the businesses of our clients is manifest in a commitment to listening, a creative drive, collaboration, and communication through every phase of a matter. This formula keeps the client's goals and objectives front-and-center, whether early resolution is realized, or a case goes to jury trial.

We believe this approach combined with our practical experience handling every facet of a project, including budget realities, are the reasons global industry giants as well as established regional companies and entrepreneurial leaders trust Liskow & Lewis to present their story.
